Record turnout expected

State issue warfare marks Ohio's voting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite a statewide ticket devoid of candidates, Ohioans were expected to vote in record numbers today in an off-year election marked by major warfare over instant voter registration and the emotional issue of leghold animal traps.

The U.S. Weather Service said temperatures under cloudy skies should be unseasonably warm, with a high near 70 degrees, but that a 50 percent chance of rain existed in northern counties and a 20 percent chance elsewhere.

Objectives at WSHS revised

City board ponders improved curriculum

By PHIL LEWIS

Record-Herald City Editor

The Washington C.H. Board of Education focused its attention on improvements in school curriculum and school objectives during Monday night's meeting in the Washington Middle School.

The five-member board approved a draft revising the Washington Senior High School philosophy and objectives. The draft, which was compiled by a revision committee of teachers and parents, stated the high school's philosophy and a list of objectives to be met in accordance with that philosophy.

The draft began, "That all should have the opportunity to acquire an education remains a major goal of the American society. To achieve this goal, it is necessary that the curriculum be flexible enough to provide each student the kind of educational experience he needs."

"Each student should have the opportunity to develop his whole being to the maximum of his ability," the philosophy statement continued.

The draft is linked with the school district's push for the upgrading of curriculum.

"This is a basis for our ongoing curriculum study," Superintendent Edwin Nestor told the board members, Monday.

A major push to revise the school district's curriculum on the high school as well as the elementary level began Friday, when teachers met at the high school in an in-service day workshop.

Nestor told the board he was pleased with the progress made during Friday's workshop which was organized by Gaylord Myers, the district's new curriculum director.

Students got the day off during the workshop sessions as teachers formed committees to discuss possible improvements of school courses. Nestor said the workshop was one of five extra days reserved by the school district for in-service workshops. Although the students did not attend classes Friday, they will still be in school for the required 180 days this year, Nestor said.

Veteran Secretary of State Ted Brown predicted a turnout of 2.85 million voters, which would eclipse the previous high of 2,795,892 for an off-year election set in 1965.

By far the most significant of four statewide constitutional amendments, was Issue 1 which would repeal the state's five-month-old law allowing citizens to register and vote the same day.

The Issue 2 proposal to ban leghold traps, like instant registration, caught national attention resulting in a deluge of media advertisements and a flood of claims by each warring camp that the other side misrepresented the facts to voters.

Attracting less attention on the state ballot were Issues 3 and 4, which propose, respectively, a new program to help finance housing for low- and moderate-income families, and provide alternate means for Ohio to finance capital improvements.

Brown said his record forecast also stemmed from the proliferation of levies scattered among about 250 school districts, including 20 in which passage is needed to keep schools open. The Toledo school district already has closed and will remain shut down until Jan. 1 unless its levy is approved.

The Issue 1 proposal, generally pitting Republicans against Democrats but with some notable exceptions, caught national attention because of President Carter's endorsement of election day registrations.

Ohio's Democrat legislature enacted it last May over the veto of GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes. A group called Ohioans for the Preservation of Honest Elections, made up of mostly Republican election board members, then circulated petitions to place the repealer on Tuesday's ballot.

Similarly, the leghold trap amendment was placed before the electorate by the Ohio Committee for Humane Trapping, after the legislature rejected a similar ban three years ago.

Issues 3 and 4 originated in the legislature.

As late as Monday, campaign charges continued to fly between foes on the instant registration question.

Secretary Brown, a Republican who urges repeal, said he was sending 50 inspectors to Cleveland to monitor the instant signups, but that he had no reason to believe there would be "organized fraud" in the state's largest city.

He said he was sending the inspectors because of expected close races in municipal contests for mayor and council, indicating he feared irregularities that could influence their outcome.

His announcement brought an immediate protest from the Citizens to Save the Right To Vote, which urges defeat of the Issue 1 repealer, and says Brown washed out in an attempt to show illegal voting in Cleveland's October primary, where instant registration was permitted.

Mrs. Regina O'Leary of Cleveland, co-chairman of the citizens' group, said Brown's earlier report of a 49 percent "error rate" in the primary was inaccurate after investigation failed to show that anyone voted illegally.

Brown had said that the 49 percent figure applied to election day registrants, and indicated the number who were permitted to vote without meeting identification requirements set forth in the instant registration law.

He blamed the errors on lack of training by polling place workers, who should have been instructed to accept only a valid driver's license or an Ohio identification cards, such as those issued the elderly and handicapped, or to require another voter in the same precinct to vouch for the new registrant's place of residence.

Nine teachers and nine parents formed a committee that drafted the revised high school philosophy.

"The healthy thing about this is it's a shared committee of parents and teachers," Nestor said. "This is the way it should be."

The teachers on the revision committee were David Stone, Fred Cluff, Mrs. Regina Del Ponte, Don Gibbs, Miss Helen Hutson, Denzil Leggett, Mrs. Doris Lutz, Gary Shaffer and George Shoemaker.

They were joined on the committee by Mr. and Mrs. James Hanawalt, Mrs. Richard Immell, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kimmet, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McArthur, Mrs. Shirley Tyree, and Mrs. Thomas Upthegrove.

With the revision of the high school philosophy, Maurice Pfeifer, the high school principal, can now proceed with the institution of departmental philosophies which will focus on curriculum improvements.

THE BOARD also stated its feelings on development plans for Commercial Avenue, a newly developed street off Elm Street near school district property.

The development plan calls for Commercial Avenue to dead end before reaching school property. The street is located between McDonald's Restaurant and the Washington Square Shopping Center.

Nestor was contacted by Washington C.H. City Council Chairman Mrs. Bertha McCullough to solicit the school board's feeling on the dead-end proposal. She was reportedly concerned the dead-end proposal would limit access to school district land.

Nestor asked the board whether access to the land from Glenn Avenue was sufficient for the district's needs or whether Commercial Avenue should be extended to district land?

"The more access you can get to it the better off you are," board member Jerry Sheppard answered. He suggested that the board contact the developer, Donald P. Woods, and see if

Voters choosing mayors, 2 governors

Rain dampens nation's elections

By The Associated Press

Voters are choosing mayors in 38 major cities and picking governors in New Jersey and Virginia, on an election day dominated by local issues and dampened by the weather.

Rain has historically benefited Republicans and could affect today's turnouts in both gubernatorial states, where the races are considered close.

In Virginia, where some areas have been flooded, Democrat Henry Howell opposes Republican Lt. Gov. John Dalton.

New Jersey's incumbent Democrat, Gov. Brendan Byrne, is challenged by a Republican state senator, Raymond Bateman.

Rain is also forecast for many of the mayoral cities including New York, where Democrat Edward Koch is expected to win easily regardless of the weather.

In several cities, black candidates are trying to capture city halls.

In New York, the historically accurate Daily News straw poll gave Koch 53 percent of the vote to 39 for his nearest rival, Secretary of State Mario Cuomo.

New York's major issue, Mayor Abraham Beame's handling of the city's finances, disappeared with Koch's defeat of the mayor in the Democratic primary.

Cuomo is the Liberal Party choice. Republican State Sen. Roy Goodman and radio personality Barry Farber, the Conservative Party entry, also are running, but with little hope.

Neighboring New Jersey still has its overriding issue, the state income tax that Byrne supports and Bateman wants to kill.

Byrne, who weathered a tough Democratic primary, had been trailing Bateman, but both sides now agree the outcome is in doubt.

OHIOANS wanting to use the state's election day registration law in Tuesday's statewide election must have one of two specific types of identification, or a registered voter to vouch for them.

They must have either a valid Ohio driver's license or an Ohio identification card — available currently only for the elderly and handicapped.

Or they must be accompanied by a person who lives and is registered in the same precinct and who can vouch for the new registrant's identity and place of residence.

mostlly out of public funds, with each candidate receiving $1 million from the state treasury.

In Virginia, Howell has said the state's largest electric utility, major banks and insurance companies reflect a "Tory plantation" policy represented by Dalton.

Dalton, a millionaire lawyer, has said Howell is a liberal and a big spender who would bring the state higher taxes and labor control of the government.

Blacks are trying to become the first of their race to win the New Orleans and Buffalo, N.Y. mayoralities.

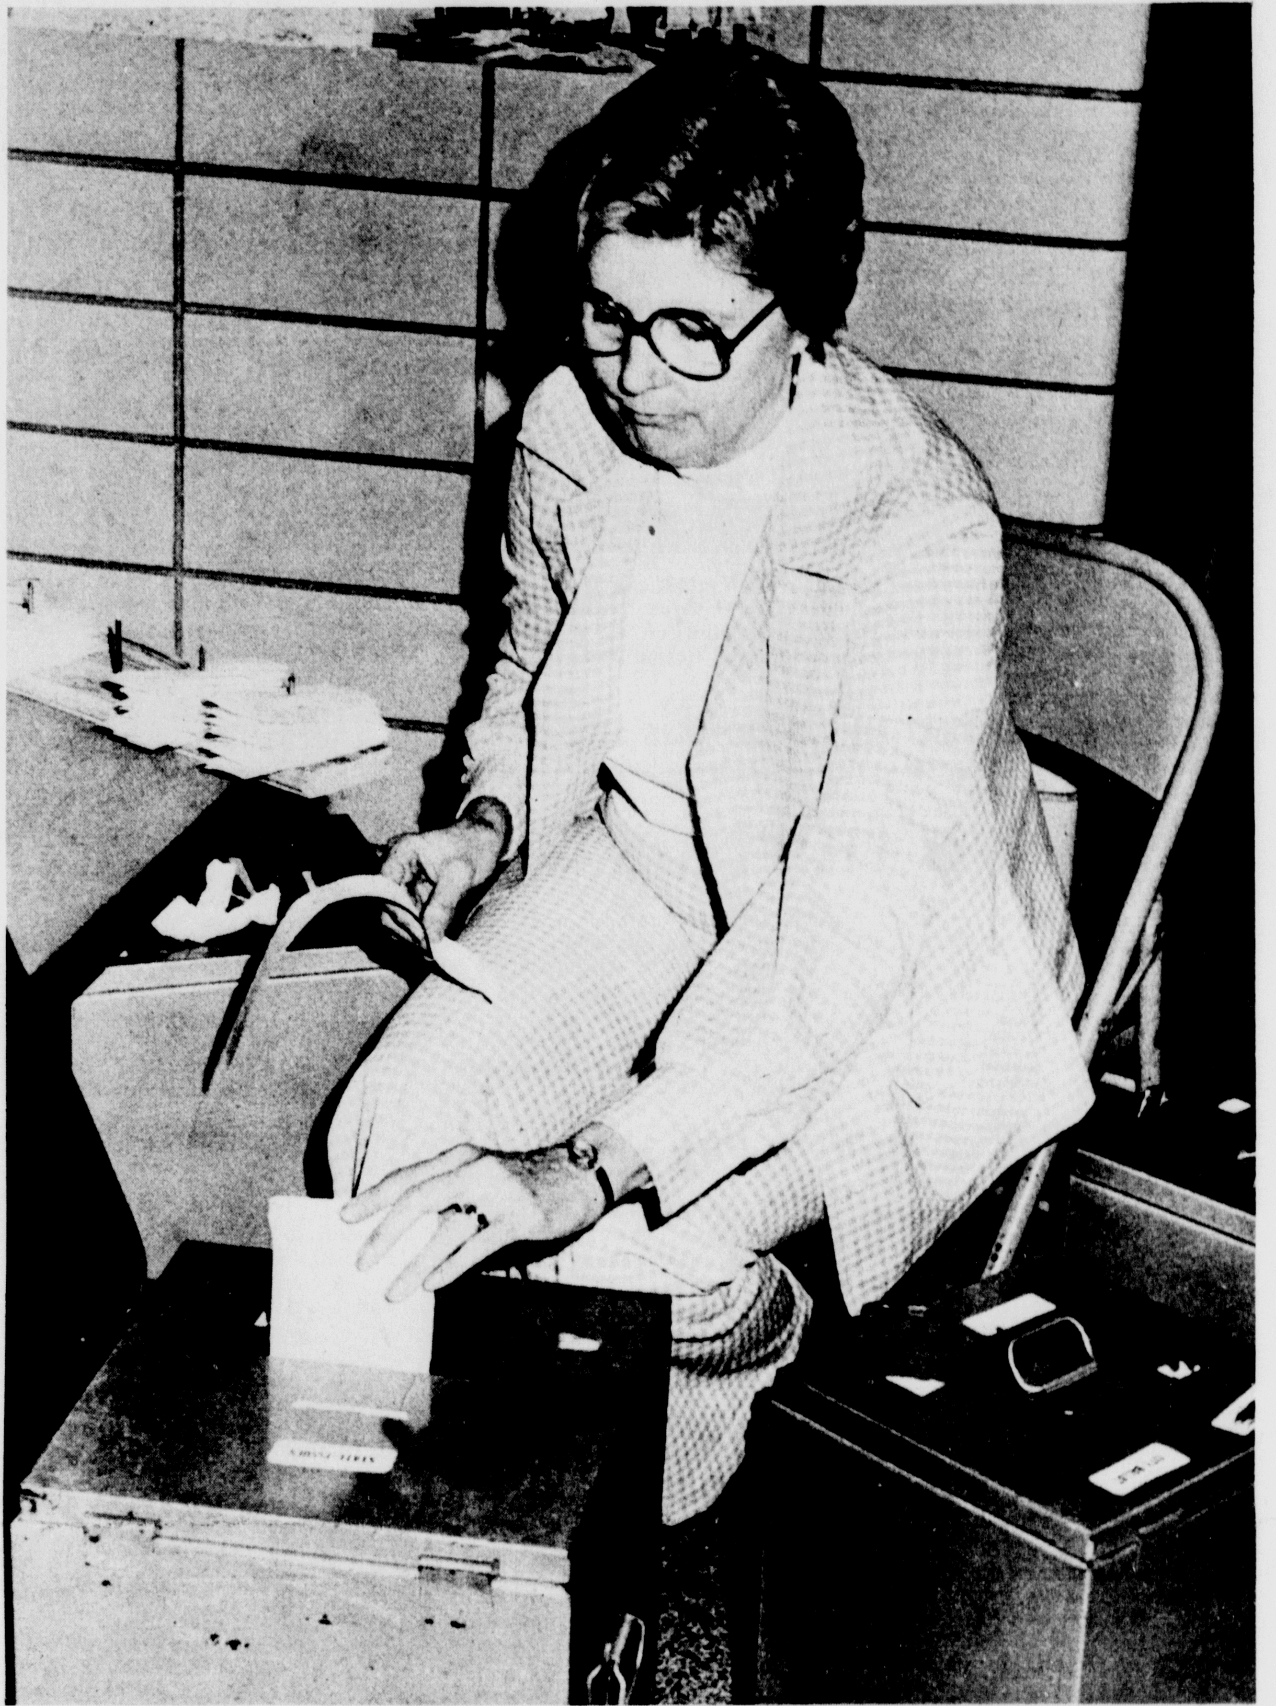

The New Orleans election will be held Saturday with a black judge, Ernest Morial, facing Councilman Joseph DiRosa in a runoff.

Coleman Young, Detroit's first black mayor, is expected to be an easy winner over Ernest C. Browne, who also is black.

There are a dozen names on the ballot in Houston, where incumbent Mayor Fred Hofheinz is not running.

It's an all-Democratic election in Cleveland, where Dennis Kucinich and Edward F. Feighan are the finalists. Republican Mayor Ralph Perk was eliminated in the primary.

Other big cities electing mayors today include Seattle; Pittsburgh; Minneapolis; Toledo and Dayton, Ohio; Miami; Louisville, Ky.; and Charlotte, N.C.

Over opposition to proposal

Commission rejects plan for renaming old U.S. 35

There will be no Dayton Road or Fayette Road in Fayette County, at least for the present.

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners turned down a proposal to rename sections of old U.S. 35, Monday. Donald Conley, the county engineer, had proposed that the sections be renamed Dayton Road and Fayette Road to eliminate problems in postal deliveries.

"We had a lot of opposition to the name changes," Commissioner Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford said of the decision to reject Conley's proposal.

At a hearing on the name changes held last week, a number of Fayette Countyans who reside on old U.S. 35-NW voiced opposition to the proposal. They said an address change would hamper businesses they operate from their homes.

They contended that addresses on business letter heads would have to be changed, and they feared a resulting loss in business.

The commissioners postponed a decision on the name changes until Monday when a continuation of the hearing was held.

"It's the feeling of the board that these names not be changed until U.S. 35 is constructed through the county," Commissioner Ray D. Warner said Monday. "Then, we'll see about changing the names."

Since the construction of the U.S. 35 bypass in Fayette County, sections of road from the Washington C.H. city limits to the bypass intersections became known as old U.S. 35.

Conley contended that old U.S. 35 has reverted back to a county road after the completion of the bypass. And, the new county roads should be named.

He proposed that old U.S. 35-NW be named Dayton Road and old U.S. 35-SE be named Fayette Road. He said this would eliminate confusion in the delivery of industrial products, United Parcel Service goods and local mail.

Warner pointed out that once U.S. 35 is completed through the county, it would be a freeway with no mailboxes or addresses. Then, a change in the name of old U.S. 35 could be considered again.

Fayette County would reportedly have the last section of freeway to be completed in the U.S. 35 project which would extend from Dayton to Gallipolis.

The commissioners did rename a section of road known as old Palmer Road extending from the intersection with old U.S. 35-NW until it deadends. This section will be known as Allemand Drive.

In other action, Monday, the commissioners rejected three bids received for the trenching of a new landfill off the Robinson Road. The three commissioners felt the bids were too high for the excavation work.

Engineer Donald Conley had estimated the trenching cost at 70 cents per cubic foot. The three bids were well above the 70-cent estimate.

The commissioners voted to readvertise for bids on the trenching work. The bids will be opened on Nov. 21.

The commissioners did accept the low bid for county fleet insurance. Sheridan Insurance Agency submitted the low bid of $9,815.65 to insure county-owned vehicles. Slightly higher bids were received from the Parrett Insurance and the Willis Insurance agencies.

A plan to widen a bridge on Lewis Road over the East Fork of Paint Creek was also approved by the commissioners, Monday.

Conley reported that the total cost of the project would be $141,000, and state funds would be used to defray 70 percent of the construction costs. This would leave the county with 30 percent of the cost or $42,300.

To prevent release

Attorney revives Nixon tape case

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attorney for Richard M. Nixon is once more arguing that 30 tapes of Oval Office conversations about the Watergate scandal should be kept from the public.

Nixon lawyer William Jefferson was expected to tell the Supreme Court today that a lower federal court erred when it said the tapes "are no longer confidential" and could be made public.

The tapes of conversations Nixon had with Attorney General John N. Mitchell and aides H.R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman were played during the cover-up trial of the three advisers.

Transcripts of the tapes have also been widely publicized.

If the tapes are released, they would let the public hear for the first time the actual voices — the tones and vocal inflections — of Nixon and the Watergate figures discussing the scandal.

In a 2-1 decision in October 1976, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington rejected Nixon's arguments that the tapes' release would invade his privacy and prove embarrassing to him.

The decision was a victory for the three commercial television networks, public television, a broadcast news directors association and a recording company that wants to reproduce the tapes as records and cassettes.

Filing suit last year to have the 22 hours of recordings released were

DRIVER HOSPITALIZED — Two persons were injured, one hospitalized, early Tuesday when their car (pictured here) drove through seven rods of fence, struck a fence post and smashed into a tree along U.S. 62-S, a half mile south of Snow Hill Road. Fayette County Memorial Hospital officials said

Randall D. Dodds, 24, of 94 Jamison Road, was transferred to University Hospital in Columbus suffering from head injuries. His passenger, Joan B. Hardy, 38, of Dayton, was treated for minor injuries and later released. Deputy Sheriff William McKenzie inspects the demolished vehicle.

Two hurt in U.S. 62-S car mishap

A severe single-car crash on U.S. 62, a half mile south of Snow Hill Road, left two persons injured early Tuesday.

The car's driver, Randall D. Dodds, 24, 94 Jamison Road, and his passenger, 38-year-old Joan B. Hardy of Dayton, were rushed to Fayette County Memorial Hospital by a county emergency medical unit. Hospital officials said Dodds suffered head injuries and was transferred to University Hospital in Columbus. Ms. Hardy was treated for lacerations and contusions. She was later released.

Fayette County sheriff's deputies stated Dodds was driving southbound on U.S. 62 at an excessive rate of speed when he drove off the left roadside around 2 a.m. The vehicle ran nearly 180 feet off the road into a ditch, crashing through seven rods of fence and striking a fence post. The car, which was demolished, continued on, smashing broadside into a tree.

The fence is located on John L. Rhoad's property at 3807 U.S. 62-SW. Sheriff's deputies reported there were no skid marks on the highway. A citation for reckless operation against Dodds is pending further investigation of the accident.

Late Monday night, a Jeffersonville man was injured when his car collided with a parked car on Maple Street just north of E. Walnut Street in Jeffersonville, sheriff's deputies reported. Anthony N. Taylor, 22, of Jeffersonville, reportedly suffered visible injuries, but was not treated following the 11:19 p.m. accident.

Taylor drove toward the right side curb, while southbound on Maple Street, and struck the rear of a parked car, belonging to Dryden D. Martin, 32, of Jeffersonville, according to a sheriff's department report. The impact shoved the parked vehicle nearly 130 feet into the street. Sheriff's deputies said the car came to rest straddling the center of the street crosswise.

Taylor's vehicle sustained severe damages and Martin's vehicle was moderately damaged. Sheriff's deputies cited Taylor for reckless operation.

Sheriff's deputies also reported a deer was killed on I-71 just north of Ohio 41 when it was struck by a car Monday night.

Seventeen-year-old Vickie S. Edwards, Jamestown, told investigators the deer was standing in the middle of the interstate and ran into her path as she approached it. The animal was knocked 210 feet off the road onto the right berm by the impact. The accident occurred about 8:35 p.m.

Ms. Edwards was not injured and her vehicle was only slightly damaged. The Fayette County game protector was called to remove the deer.

According to a Washington C.H. Police Department report, two cars were moderately damaged when a driver swerved to the right along the 700 block of Washington Avenue about 6:04 p.m. Monday and struck a parked car.

an access lane could be purchased.

The board approved Sheppard's motion.

The board also approved the use of a classroom at the senior high school by the Great Oaks Joint Vocational School District for credit deficiency make-up classes.

The classes would be designed to give make-up work for courses that JVS students have failed.

"Since there are enough students from Greenfield, Miami Trace and (Washington C.H.) to make up a course, it can be taught here two hours, two nights a week rather than our kids having to drive to the JVS," Nestor told the board in recommending the make-up classes.

Local staff members will be hired by the JVS to teach English and Social Studies. The courses would begin during the first week of December and run for 10 weeks. There will be a $35 tuition fee per student.

IN OTHER action Monday, the board:

—Heard a report on a tuition case involving the sons of Charles E. Forsythe. The board contends that Forsythe owes the district some tuition fees from last school year. The case had been turned over to Washington C.H. City Solicitor Gary Smith, but Nestor reported that Smith has been too busy to pursue the case. The board instructed Nestor to seek legal advice from another attorney; —Approved a "Switch With A Parent (SWAP) Day" program at the Washington Senior High School on Nov. 18. The SWAP Day program will be similar to one initiated last year by Maurice Pfeiffer. Students will be given the day off, if one of their parents agrees to attend classes in the student's place;

—Approved the hiring of Terry Feick and John Taylor as driver's education instructors beginning Nov. 16. Students will be charged a $5 lab fee and $3.50 for an instruction book; —Accepted the resignation of William Bennett, a custodian at Cherry Hill Elementary School. Two custodians, Norman Aills and David Sadler, were hired by the board;

—Hired Joyce Ludban and Ann Elceas as tutors for homebound students and Brenda C. Henderson and Barbara Ragland as substitute teachers;

—Approved the request from two teachers, Elizabeth Sauer and Nancy Sansom, for released time without pay;

—Accepted Richard Ackley as a high school graduate in the district. Ackley would have graduated in 1976, but lacked one credit which he has since made up;

—Granted Superintendent Nestor permission to sell two upright pianos presently in the Rose Avenue Elementary School building; and —Approved the board and lodging of a deaf student in the district to attend the Alexander Graham Bell School for the Deaf in Columbus this school year.

Police officers cited 83-year-old Orville W. House, 114 River Road, for failure to control. He reportedly told the officers the headlights from the oncoming traffic had blinded him and he failed to see the parked car, which belonged to Bill Penwell of 742 Washington Ave. No injuries were reported.

Another two-car collision resulting in moderate damages to both vehicles occurred Monday morning on Columbus Avenue at Fayette Center, according to police officers.

Pamela J. Hutton, 29, of 7168 Ohio 38-SE, reportedly pulled onto Columbus Avenue into the path of an oncoming vehicle around 10:07 a.m. She told investigating officers she thought the other car, driven by Janet S. Bennett, 26, of 13879 Ohio 3, was signaling to turn when she pulled from a stop sign at Fayette Center.

Neither driver was injured, according to police, who cited Ms. Hutton for failure to yield.

Three cars were involved in a rear-end collision about 3:40 p.m. Monday near the intersection of Court and North streets.

Police officers reported Rickie L. Malott, 18, of 520 N. North St., had turned onto Court Street from North Street and attempted to change lanes when he struck the rear of a pick-up truck forcing it to strike the rear of another car.

Malott's car received moderate damages, while the other two vehicles, which had been stopped in traffic, sustained slight damages. The driver of the truck was Thomas E. Rodgers, 22, of 1120 N. North St. The other car's driver was Ruth A. Jones, 33, 1765 U.S. 62-NE. No one was injured.

In a minor collision Monday reported by police officers, Virgil G. Martin Sr., 47, 708 Van Deman St., tried to stop his semi tractor-trailer rig in the 200 block of E. Court Street and the trailer sideswiped a parked van.

Martin, who was attempting to stop behind traffic when the collision occurred, was not injured, according to the police report. The parked vehicle, which was slightly damaged, belonged to Charles E. Dixon, 51, of Good Hope.

Deaths, Funerals

Chester Knisley

JEFFERSONVILLE — Chester Knisley, 86, of 6 Maple St., Jeffersonville, died at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday in Fayette County Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for one week.

Born in Madison County, Mr. Knisley had resided in Jeffersonville for the past 52 years. He was a retired star mail route carrier for the U.S. Postal Service. He was also a member of the House of Prayer in Washington C.H. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Leota Null Knisley; two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence (Edith) Sharrett of Jeffersonville and Mrs. Clarence (Lucille) Bartley of London; six grandchildren; and 16 great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by a son, Ancil A. Knisley, in 1972.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home in Jeffersonville with the Rev. Glenn Williams of the House of Prayer officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 1 p.m. Wednesday.

MRS. MARY MAULTSBY—Services for Mrs. Mary Maultsby, 59, Clarksburg, were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in New Holland.

Mrs. Maultsby, who was born in Ross County, died Saturday in her Clarksburg residence.

The Rev. Michael Wright officiated at the funeral services.

Pallbearers for burial in Brown's Chapel Cemetery in Clarksburg were John, David, Robert and Ward McCabe; John Pierce Sr. and Donald Elliott.

JASPER McDANIEL—Services for Jasper McDaniel, 73, of 49½ N. Main St., New Holland, were held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in New Holland.

Mr. McDaniel, a retired farmer and restaurant manager, died Friday in Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

The Rev. Ernest Knisley officiated at the services and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hurler sang two hymns.

Pallbearers for burial in New Holland Cemetery were Allen McDaniel; Donald, Paul, and William Wiseman; Ronald Reese and Eugene Justice.

MRS. LEAH F. THOMPSON—Services for Mrs. Leah F. Thompson, 85, of 626 Albin Ave., were held at 1 p.m. Monday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home in Washington C.H. with the Rev. Gerald Wheat officiating.

Mrs. Thompson, who moved to Washington C.H. 20 years ago, died Friday in the Court House Manor Nursing Home.

Pallbearers for burial in Pleasant Cemetery in Mount Sterling were David Finley, Hilbert Meyer, Howard Dellinger, and James Lawrence.

Traffic Court

Seven persons were found guilty and three others forfeited bonds on charges of driving while intoxicated in Washington C.H. Municipal Court Monday. All seven who were convicted were also found guilty of other traffic violations.

Acting Judge Omar Schwart sentenced each of the seven persons to three days in jail and fined them all $200 and court costs for the drunk driving offenses.

A London man, Boyd W. McCallister, 19, was given credit for two days already served since his arrest by Fayette County sheriff's deputies Friday night. At the time of his arrest, he was also charged with driving while under suspension. Judge Schwart sentenced McCallister to another six months in jail and fined him $500 and costs.

However, the six-month sentence and $400 of the fine were suspended providing the youth does not violate any traffic laws for a period of two years.

Donald E. Brown, 60, 921 Lakeview Drive, also had his operator's license suspended for 30 days for the violation and was issued another 30-day suspension, to run consecutively, when he was found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident. Brown was fined $50 and costs for that violation.

He was fined an additional $50 and costs after being convicted of reckless operation. Washington C.H. police officers arrested Brown on the charges following an accident in the municipal parking lot on S. Fayette Street Saturday night.

Rodney L. Snyder, 25, of Columbus, received a 30-day suspension of his driver's license for his drunk driving conviction and was ordered to comply with the financial responsibility insurance act. He was also fined $25, plus costs, on a charge of failure to drive on the right half of the road. He was cited by Ohio Highway Patrol officers Oct. 23.

A Cincinnati man, 42-year-old Paul E. Mathis, was given credit on his sentence for time he has already served since his arrest by state troopers Saturday morning. Judge Schwart revoked Mathis' registration as well. He was fined another $25 and costs for driving without a valid driver's license and $35 and costs for speeding.

John Lemmings, 29, of 604 Gregg St., was also ordered to surrender his registration to the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles for his drunk driving offense. He was fined $50 and court costs for driving while under suspension and an additional $35 and costs for operating an unsafe vehicle. Local police arrested Lemmings early Saturday.

Michael R. Rowe, 25, of Greenfield, received a 30-day suspension of his operator's license for drunk driving. Arrested early Saturday by local police officers, he also fined $35 and costs following conviction on a charge of reckless operation.

The acting judge suspended 31-year-old Samuel L. Penwell's operator's license for 30 days following his conviction of driving while intoxicated. The Leesburg man, arrested Friday by highway patrol officers, was also found guilty of speeding and fined $50, plus costs.

The three men who forfeited bonds on charges of drunk driving were all arrested by Ohio Highway Patrol troopers and each forfeited a $500-bond. They were Carl P. Scarberry, 40, of Dayton, cited early Sunday morning; Jeffrey A. Anschutz, 21, 1433 N. North St., cited early Friday morning; and Richard A. Shipley, 34, 6545 Ohio 753, cited Oct. 23.

A local man, 23-year-old Duane May, 811 Independence Court, was convicted of driving while under suspension and received a 3-month suspended jail sentence and a $50-fine. Judge Schwart suspended the sentence providing May has no traffic offenses for one year. He was cited by Fayette County sheriff's deputies following a collision on Robinson Road Oct. 29.

Another local man was fined $250 and costs after he was found guilty of his second speeding offense within a 12-month period. The judge suspended $175 of the fine against Charles Curnutt, 38, of 620 N. North St., on the condition he has no other traffic violations within one year.

Judge Schwart heard several other cases during proceedings Monday:

Nixon tapes

NBC, ABC, CBS, the Public Broadcasting Service, the Radio Television News Directors Association and Warner Communications.

The networks and the news directors organization are interested in airing at least portions of the tapes. Warner indicated a desire to commercially reproduce the tapes.

Attorneys for Nixon argued when they sought Supreme Court review in June 1976 that such reproductions would be "played at cocktail parties and in satiric productions and ... be exploited in any other fashion."

Last January, lawyers for the networks and the others seeking release of the tapes submitted a proposal to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica that envisions the National Archives selling one-hour segments of the tapes for $3.75 to $5.75.

The Supreme Court has been confronted with four other legal controversies involving Nixon's 880 reels of once-secret recordings.

In 1974, the court's ruling that a claim of presidential privilege could not be used to withhold evidence in a criminal trial forced him to surrender 30 of the tapes to the special Watergate prosecutor and hastened Nixon's resignation.

Akron murder count lodged

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Police charged an Akron man with murder today in the bizarre death of a teenage Akron girl and a subsequent three-county car chase that injured six persons and smashed nine vehicles.

Officers said the girl, Tonina Robinson, 13, was abducted Monday evening as she walked from her home toward a nearby store to buy some powdered drink mix. She subsequently was strangled and her body, nude from the waist down, was dragged by a car at the end of a rope which was knotted around her neck, police said.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

FBI used questionable means in manhunt for James Earl Ray

By JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — The FBI, which used electronic skulduggery in an effort to discredit Martin Luther King Jr., tried to employ similar illegal tactics to catch his murderer.
Long-buried FBI documents reveal that then-director J. Edgar Hoover personally approved a break-in and illegal electronic bugging aimed at innocent relatives of James Earl Ray, who was later convicted of killing King.
For years, Hoover had conducted a vicious smear campaign against King. The FBI peddled malicious anti-King stories to the press and had sent doctored tapes concerning King's personal life to his wife. When King was slain in 1968, whispers about possible FBI involvement put Hoover under great pressure to find the assassin.
While FBI agents were hot on Ray's trail, a May 10, 1968 memo, prepared for top Hoover aide J.P. Mohr, outlined elaborate illegal plans to catch the murderer.

As part of the overall investigation, code-named MURKIN — an acronym for murder and King — a memo was written which declared: "Consideration is given to microphone installations on certain properties of Albert and Carol Pepper," the brother-in-law and sister of James Earl Ray.
"The proposal," cautioned the memo, "raises a question concerning the legality of any action taken against the subject of this case on the basis of information obtained from the microphones." If Ray called the Peppers and the bugged conversations were used to arrest him, the memo said, Ray "then could claim that the surveillance violated his right of privacy." This could prejudice the court case against him.

But if certain precautions were taken, the memo continued, "the worst that could happen" is that the arrest would be declared illegal. Using tortured logic, the document insisted that Ray could still be convicted despite the FBI lawbreaking.

The FBI plotters bluntly admitted that the whole scheme was unconstitutional and a "technical violation" of the law. "Be aware," the memo warned, "that since this search and seizure is unconstitutional as to the Peppers, they have at least a theoretical cause of action for damages against those who installed the (bugging) devices by trespass."
"Trespass" is FBI lingo for a break-in. If the Peppers sued the FBI and won, the memo insisted, the taxpayers would bail them out. "The government of the United States should surely be willing to pick up the tab for any judgment against those who installed the microphones," the memo concluded. At the bottom, Hoover scrawled "OK," and added his characteristic "H." Six other FBI officials also initialed their approval.

We have been unable to determine whether the FBI actually bugged or burglarized the Peppers' home. Indeed, assassinations expert Harold Weisberg has developed evidence indicating the Justice Department vetoed the plan. But inside sources insist the FBI did use dubious and possibly illegal means to capture Ray, who later pleaded guilty to murdering King and was sentenced to 99 years in prison.
Footnote: The FBI has acknowledged that abuses occurred in the past. Since 1973, however, the present director, Clarence Kelley, has halted most of these practices. We were unable to reach the Peppers.

Public Accounting: Consulting firms with close ties to the oil industry have been formulating energy policy for the government.
The Department of Energy has asked Price Waterhouse and Company to develop a contingency plan for gasoline rationing. The firm is the accountant for a number of major oil companies. No other company was allowed to compete for the contract. The $528,000 plum was simply awarded to Price Waterhouse.

Not surprisingly, the firm is studying an emergency gas rationing plan that would rely on oil company credit cards. This has angered the independent gas dealers who have no credit cards and fear they will be squeezed out. They complained to the Energy Department that Price Waterhouse will be biased because it earns far more from its oil clients than from its government contract.

Another consulting firm, R. Schriver and Associates, was awarded a $70,000 contract, also without competitive bidding. The firm is supposed to devise a system to force oil companies to disclose the profits of their individual operations, such as exploration, refining and marketing.

The firm was founded by Richard Schriver, a former Exxon official, and it has also done work for some oil companies. A spokesman insisted, however, that the firm has not worked for the oil industry in recent years.
An Energy Department spokesman, meanwhile, told us there was no bidding for the contracts because the projects were behind schedule. "Anyone who knows anything about the oil business is going to have done work for the major oil companies," he insisted. "Anyone who hasn't worked for the oil companies probably doesn't know anything about them."

The Senate Antitrust Subcommittee, chaired by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., however, is investigating whether industry consultants are producing a biased energy policy.
Footnote: Price Waterhouse did not return our calls.

Four Vermont brothers, wives repeat marriage vows again

CABOT, Vt. (AP) — Four Vermont brothers and their wives — with a total of 123 years of married life behind them — have fulfilled a claim they'd made for years: Given the chance, they'd get married all over again.

The four couples repeated their vows Sunday in a special church ceremony replete with crying babies, popping flashbulbs and damp-eyed relatives.

Married again were the Lloyd Lovelys, Robert Lovelys, Ralph Lovelys and Paul Lovelys.

A hush fell over the the United Church in Cabot as the couples, in fancy suits and long gowns, marched down the aisle to the strains of the traditional wedding march from Wagner's "Lohengrin." When the organist switched to "I Love You Truly," friends and relatives dabbed their eyes with handkerchiefs.

"None of us ever had church weddings, receptions, honeymoons or even wedding cakes," explained Wilma Lovely, who married Lloyd 34 years ago Sunday. "We were married during wartime."

For Dora Lovely, who eloped with Robert at age 16, the ceremony served as "a booster shot" for the couple's 30-year marriage.

"The first one wasn't the same as doing it in church," she said. "And my parents were very upset because I was so young."

Ralph Lovely was married without the watchful eyes of family members 20 years ago because, as his wife Lola remembered, "We went by ourselves because it seemed like such a sacred thing."

Marge Lovely, married to Paul, endorses the idea of remarriage.

"I'm very grateful for the 39 years Paul and I have been married," she said. "Renewing our vows was something we wanted to do for our own personal gratification."

Others in the congregation rose at the request of the Rev. David McBride to repeat their marriage vows with the Lovelys.

"We pray for their children and grandchildren that from this example each might learn new possibilities for happiness, patience to endure and to understand, and renewed devotion to the marriage vows," McBride said.

The four couples have 11 children and 30 grandchildren among them.

Lloyd and Wilma Lovely were hosts at the reception after the service, and helped cut a huge white cake trimmed with pink and green frosting and topped by four pairs of bride and groom statuettes.

Another tradition was observed, too: "Some things never change," said Paul Lovely. "I'm nervous all over again."

The first Jewish congregation in Ohio was organized in Cincinnati in 1824. — AP

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Husband's trips make her jealous

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very attractive middle-aged man who has never fooled around as far as I know. The company he works for sends him and a professional female co-worker out of town together (just the two of them) on business trips for several days' duration.

It seems to me that since it wouldn't be proper for just the two of them to have dinner together here in our home city, it's hardly fair for the company to send them out of town together.

My husband says it's strictly business relationship, and I believe him. But she's pretty, young and single, and being only human, all that togetherness away from home could hatch a problem that's bigger than the both of them.

How should I handle this?

JUST PLAIN JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: What's to handle? Say nothing. Continue to trust him; expect the best and you'll probably get it. Any other action on your part would be unwise.

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his fiancée are being married soon. Our names were not included on the wedding invitations. When we asked our son about this, he said it was strictly up to the bride, and she selected the form that omitted the names of the bridegroom's parents.

Our friends and relatives disagree. They say that it is a slap in the face and a snub to us, and if we had an ounce of pride, we would not attend our son's wedding. After all, he wasn't laid on a log and hatched by the sun!

Who is right, Abby? What would you do?

HURT IN PENNA.
DEAR HURT: The standard American wedding invitation does not include the name of the groom's parents, so the bride should not be faulted for having selected that style. I would go to the wedding and bear no grudge.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the article about the girl who wore braces on her teeth. She said her boyfriend also wore braces, and when they kissed it was like running into a barbed wire fence, and it hurt.

Well, I'm a 22-year-old guy who's been wearing braces for three years, and I know exactly how she felt. When I used to kiss a girl with braces, it was like two freight trains colliding head on!

Braces have improved my kissing. I now kiss very slowly, gently and tenderly. I get compliments on my kisses all the time. I'm sure if it weren't for my braces I never would have learned how to be such a neat kisser.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE
What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Some intrigue likely in occupational circles. YOU remain discreet and keep involvement to a minimum.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Bonuses indicated from past efforts. These should give you new incentive, perhaps a whole new approach to further successes. Long-range plans favored.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

A good period for branching out into new fields if your regular activities allow you the time. Creative interests especially favored.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

You may encounter what seems to be undue opposition. Take whatever steps are necessary to overcome it, but do not mistake honest discussion for hostility.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Exercise extreme caution in financial matters. Due to having insufficient data, there could be danger in signing contracts, especially.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A new light thrown upon certain situations should prime you for fine advancement in the offing. Rouse yourself to work for superlative attainment.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A good day for occupational interests. Outlook especially favorable if you are seeking favors from superiors.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Not a prime period for trying to push pet schemes; for taking the initiative generally. Concentrate on routine activities.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

As with Scorpio, you may not be in the best position to take action on a cherished project just now, but that needn't deter you from keeping your plans in mind.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Good stellar influences. Especially favored; real estate interests, home improvements, family concerns and social activities.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

With further thought, you now see possibilities in hitherto barren areas of achievement so, if you're in a mood to take a chance, go ahead. Success likely.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Your impulse to "get going" should be checked until associates are ready to join you. Forcing matters will only lead to dissension.

YOU BORN TODAY are a mentally alert, enthusiastic individual, endowed with tremendous drive and initiative. Scorpio is a Sign of both creativity and practicality, so you can be equally adept in business enterprises or an artistic career. You are gregarious, a born organizer and leader. Impulsive at times and quickly aroused to anger, you are, however, as quick to forget your resentments and hostilities, and usually "bend backward" to make up for hasty words. Fields in which you could excel: the law, education, medicine, writing, business management. Also, there is no field of art which is closed to you — and some aspect of it should be taken up, even if only avocationally.

Mom dies giving birth

Autopsy set in deaths of mother, two babies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Authorities planned an autopsy today to determine the cause of death of a 9-month-old boy and his mother, who apparently died while giving birth to another child.

Their bodies were found Monday in a sparsely furnished apartment where police said they died at least a week ago.

"The whole thing is puzzling right now simply because we don't have much to go on," said John Castle, a spokesman for the Franklin County coroner's office.

The woman was identified as Mariam Herman, 30, and her son as Jerold Herman.

Castle said a brother, Dr. William H. Overholser of Granville, Ohio, made the identifications after viewing photographs of the decomposed bodies.

Overholser was unavailable for comment. Mrs. Herman's mother, Mariam Overholser, and a sister, Terri Overholser, also live in Columbus, according to Castle and a spokesman for a Columbus funeral home.

A rental agent investigating complaints of a foul odor coming from Mrs. Herman's apartment found the bodies.

A neighbor who lives in the apartment below said Mrs. Herman moved in about two months ago and quoted her as saying she came from San Diego to obtain treatment for Jerold's epilepsy at Columbus Children's Hospital.

However, officials at Children's Hospital, which has received national attention for use of sodium valproate in an epilepsy treatment program, said they have no record of treating Jerold or anyone with a similar name.

"She was obviously lonely," said the neighbor, Eleanor Adrean, 63, a bedridden cancer patient. "She would wave at us when she left for the hospital. She stopped almost every day to speak."

Mrs. Adrean and Troxler said they did not know Mrs. Herman was pregnant. They described her as about 5-foot-4 inches tall and weighing 150-175 pounds.

"I called the police last Saturday night because of the bad odor from upstairs," said Earnest Troxler, 57, who lives with and cares for his widowed sister, Mrs. Adrean. "They pushed a back door open but it was chained from inside and they said the kitchen was full of trash and this caused the odor."

"We hadn't seen her since a week ago Thursday (Oct. 27)," Mrs. Adrean said. "Two people came looking for her since then. It was a couple who said she worked for them some time. We didn't get their names."

Troxler called their real estate rental agent Monday about the odor. The agent, Robert Myers, notified firemen at a nearby station.

"We were worried about her but I heard noises a few times at night and so we didn't think much of it," Mrs. Adrean said. "It must have been the baby. He jabbered a lot. He was trying to talk, but we never heard him cry."

"I don't know why, if he was hungry, why we didn't hear him cry ...

Municipal Court

A local man, arrested Sunday for criminal damaging and disorderly conduct, was found guilty of both charges in Washington C.H. Municipal Court Monday.

John Ray Phillips, 25, of 1156 Country Club Court, received a 30-day suspended jail term on the criminal damaging charge and fined $50 and court costs. Acting Judge Omar Schwartz suspended the sentence on the condition Phillips makes restitution of $50 every two weeks for damages resulting from an incident Sunday night.

Washington C.H. police officers arrested Phillips following an incident on Country Club Court in which two private vehicles sustained a total of $350 in damages. He was also charged with disorderly conduct, found guilty and fined another $35 and costs.

Nineteen-year-old Elsie Sue (Sanford) Jester, 217 East St., was convicted of disorderly conduct and fined $100, plus costs.

Judge Schwartz suspended $75 of the fine conditional on good behavior for one year. She was arrested on a private warrant by Washington C.H. police officers early Sunday.

The acting judge dismissed a charge of assault against 23-year-old William H. Robinson, 616 Delaware St., during a hearing Monday.

The dismissal was ordered for a lack of evidence. Robinson was arrested on a private warrant Sunday by local police following an incident at his home.

Arrests

POLICE

More rain expected

By The Associated Press

Here is the agricultural weather forecast for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service:

More rain can be expected in Ohio Wednesday through Friday as low pressure moves northeastward through the central United States. By the weekend a large high pressure area should dominate all of the Midwest and bring cooling plus some welcome sunshine for all of Ohio.

FIELD CONDITIONS — Rain Monday and through the night has affected all of Ohio. It will be difficult to accomplish any soil working activity now until two or three days of drying. Drying will be minimal until the weekend, when a two or three day period is possible.

HARVEST OUTLOOK — Soybean and grain sorghum moisture increases have been substantial through this damp period and further wetting Wednesday through Friday will maintain high levels. Drying should get underway over the weekend. Indications are that minimum temperatures will drop to upper 30s about Saturday morning.

Engagement announced

MISS JULIA L. VOSS

Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Voss, Chestnut Ridge Farm, Lancaster, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Julia Lewis, to John L. Tatman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tatman of Washington C. H.

Miss Voss is a graduate of Lancaster High School and Earlham College, Richmond, Ind.

Her fiance, a graduate of Washington High School and Earlham College, is attending Ohio State University College of Medicine.

Pretty shower for Miss Binzel

Miss Mary Binzel, bride-elect of Ted Black, was guest of honor at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Dennis Breitigan, 4548 Lewis Rd. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. William R. Black Jr. and Miss Ann Black.

The table decorations centered around a bridal doll, which, as a tradition, was used previously by two of the hostesses. Miss Binzel opened many useful and pretty gifts.

Contest winners were Mrs. Ben Wright and Mrs. Carey Daugherty.

A dessert course was served by the hostesses to Mrs. Philip Binzel and Mrs. William Black, mothers of the betrothed couple, Mrs. Roger Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Robert Woodmansee, Mrs. C. W. McHolan, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Mrs. Ben Wright, Mrs. Harry Townsend, Mrs. Marvin Roszmann, Mrs. Dwight Coffman, Mrs. Carey Daugherty, the Misses Kathy and Nancy Binzel, Mrs. John Bath, Mrs. John Rhoads, Mrs. Chester Brown, Miss Marie Marchant, Mrs. Edwin Woodmansee, Mrs. Leo Black, Mrs. John Mentges, Mrs. Carl Hasslacher, Mrs. Mark Schaeper, Mrs. Raldon Smith, Mrs. Paul Crosby and Mrs. Barbara Lanum.

40th anniversary to be observed

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gault of Washington C. H., will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary Nov. 14. A reception is planned in honor of the occasion from 2 until 4 p. m. Sunday, Nov. 13, in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Crabtree, 10471 Fent Road, Jeffersonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gault were married Nov. 14, 1937, in Washington C. H., and have one daughter, Mrs. Crabtree, and three grandsons.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend the reception. They request no gifts.

Class hears about Alaska

There were 29 present for the meeting and covered dish dinner for the Christian Crusaders Class of the South Side Church of Christ. Marvin G. Ringer, minister, gave the invocation. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Pearl Jordan and Mrs. Sylvia Howsman.

Pearl Varney, president, called the meeting to order. Reports were made by Mrs. Varney and Mrs. Willis Anthony.

During the election of officers, Mr. Varney was retained as president; Howard Brooks, vice president; Mrs. Varney, secretary; Mrs. Milton Dodds, assistant secretary; and Mrs. Anthony, treasurer.

Frank Coulter's devotions were entitled, "He Lives Here."

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Ringer and Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Louderbach and son were special guests.

Mr. Louderbach presented slides of Alaska. The Louderbachs reside in Fairbanks, Alaska, which is called the "Golden Heart of Alaska." He told the group that the military was the "big thing" there, but at the present time, the pipeline is more important. He also showed slides of the pipeline, and all learned more about Alaska.

Highland bazaar set for Nov. 19

Highland District Hospital annual bazaar, "Happy Holidays" is planned for Saturday, Nov. 19 at the Hillsboro National Guard Armory from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. There is no charge for admission.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Highland District Hospital will have hand-crafted gifts for sale, delicious home baked goods, Christmas ideas and ornaments. Food will be served. Everyone is invited.

Posy Garden Club

The Nov. 16 meeting of the Posy Garden Club will be a workshop on making terrariums, dish or cactus gardens. Mrs. Albert Bihl will be the instructor.

Members are asked to bring suitable containers and plants. Soil, etc. will be furnished by the committee. The meeting time is 1 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Bihl.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Humbert of Stowe, Ohio, were the weekend guests of Mrs. Hoy Simons, 230 N. Fayette St.

MR. and MRS. J.B. THOMAS

Couple observes anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Thomas of 5544 Palmer Road, NW, celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 6. Mr. Thomas and the former Helen Morris were married Nov. 6, 1932, in Newport, Ky., by the Rev. Thomas Hanley.

The couple are the parents of one daughter, Mrs. J. P. (Nancy) Morgan, and they have one granddaughter, Kelly Jo.

New officers for circles named

The Shining Cross Circle of the Madison Mills United Methodist Women met in the home of Mrs. Thelma LeBeau. Mrs. John Delay conducted the Thank Offerings service entitled "The Blessedness of Being Thankful." The purpose of this special presentation was to help persons become aware of the blessings they have received, to give thanks for these blessings, and to accept the responsibility to give of oneself to others. Each placed her Thank Offering on the worship table at the conclusion.

It was reported that the annual UNICEF Drive held recently netted $88. These donations provide food, milk and medicine for children throughout the world.

Members were reminded that Betty Crocker coupons are being collected by the South Side Settlement in Columbus. Canceled postage stamps are being sent to the Country Life School in Piney Woods, Miss.

A cash donation is to be given to the Church Women United Clothing Center in Washington C. H.

The combined circles of the church will meet Dec. 7, in the home of Mrs. LeBeau.

Clarence Bonzo. Members are to meet at 2 p. m. Nov. 9, with Mrs. Bonzo to make a Christmas craft project.

A cookie exchange will be held Dec. 10, in the home of Mrs. Harold King. At this time, members are to bring their new clothing items for the children at the Jackson Area Ministries.

Mrs. Delay, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate for 1978: President-Mrs. Raymond Anderson; vice president-Mrs. King; secretary-Mrs. Delay; treasurer-Mrs. Dorothy Huff; and press reporter-Mrs. Mary Lou Hidy; Christian Personhood-Mrs. Hidy; Christian Global Concerns-Mrs. LeBeau; Christian Social Involvement-Mrs. Cecil Recob; Supportive Community-Mrs. Jess Schlichter; and Program Resources-Mrs. King.

Members of the nominating committee are: Mrs. Leland Dorn, chairman, Mrs. Dorothy Huff and Mrs. Forrest Fry; Mrs. King is leader of the Mary Martha Circle, and Mrs. Hidy, the Shining Cross Circle leader. Mrs. Delay will serve as secretary of the Shining Cross Circle.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. LeBeau.

These cookies are extra-special

COMPANY FARE- Swiss Walnut Cookies (in the foreground) are a lovely offering with a cup of tea or coffee for afternoon or evening refreshment.

Some cookies are for every day-to serve along with crisp red apples or milk at snack-time. Some cookies are extra special-to offer with a fresh fruit compote as a luncheon or dinner-time dessert, or with a cup of tea or coffee as an afternoon or evening refresher.

SWISS WALNUT COOKIES

3-4 cup butter
2-3 cup granulated sugar
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 and 3-4 cups sifted flour
1-4 tsp. salt

3-4 cup walnuts, finely chopped
1-2 cup apricot jam
Confectioner's sugar, if desired
Cream the butter and sugar; beat in the egg yolks and vanilla until blended. Stir in the flour and salt until blended. Stir in the walnuts. Chill, tightly covered, until firm enough to handle-1 or 2 hours.

Halve the dough; work with one portion at a time and keep the other refrigerated. On the prepared pastry cloth, with a prepared stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out the half portion of dough about 1-4 inch thick. Cut out cookies with a 2-inch floured cutter. Place well apart on a lightly buttered cookie sheet.

Bake in preheated 350-degree oven, just above the center, until very lightly browned-10 to 12 minutes. With a wide spatula, remove to wire racks to cool. Shortly before serving, spread the bottoms of half the cookies with apricot jam, using 1 teaspoon jam for each. Top with the remaining cookies. If desired, sprinkle lightly with confectioner's sugar. Makes 24 sandwich cookies.

Flood survivors begin to dig out

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP) — Unbroken 100-watt lightbulbs rest atop the muck and debris, just yards from cars crushed and trailer homes overturned by the wall of water that smashed into Toccoa Falls Bible College.

"Up that way there were four brick houses. I knew everybody who lived there ... Now most of them are gone," said Dr. Harold Windus, director of elementary education at the tiny school.

Everywhere was evidence of family life disrupted.

Part of a child's tricycle and a pink and yellow baby book, its pages blank, were stuck in the mud. Mattresses, torn and muddled, reminded that most of the 38 victims were asleep when disaster struck.

The few houses that still stand are stained by a muddy waterline.

Officials want to know whose responsibility it was to inspect the 37-year-old Kelly Barnes earthen dam, which apparently broke under the stress of an 80-acre lake swollen by heavy rains.

Survivors today are digging out of the ruins of their homes and classrooms — and preparing to bury their friends and family members who perished in the flood waters Sunday.

Bill Anderson, a Bible college student from Glen Dale, Md., lost his wife, Karen, 29, and two of their five children — Joey and Becky — when their trailer was ripped apart by the roaring current. Services for them will be held here at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Services for six other victims are scheduled at the Toccoa Alliance Church at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Most of the victims will be buried in their hometowns around the country.

The search continues for the body of Paul Williams, 76, a college maintenance worker and the only person unaccounted for.

The body of Dr. Jerry Sproull, 45, a theology professor, was found late Monday beneath an air conditioner only a short distance from where his home had stood.

The bodies of his three children, Melissa, 6; Joslynn, 7, and Joanna, 9, were recovered with 34 others Sunday. His wife, Pat Sproull, survived.

Windus surveyed the battered town of 9,000 and expressed disbelief at the courage shown by members of the interdenominational college.

From counseling firms

Junior Achievement companies chartered

Students from Washington Senior, Miami Trace and Greenfield McClain high schools, who are members of the three local Junior Achievement companies, received an opportunity Monday night to meet with local business leaders as part of the Junior Achievement organization's annual Executive Night program.

Each Junior Achievement company received a charter to conduct business from the local businesses that serve as counseling firms by providing adult advisors who assist in teaching the Junior Achievement participants the principles of the nation's free enterprise system.

James R. Hanawalt, general manager of the Armco Steel Corp. metal products division plants in Washington C.H. and Longview, Tex., presented Andy Pope, president of Leginc, with a Junior Achievement charter and presented membership pins to all the members of the Junior Achievement firm counseled by Armco.

The other two local Junior Achievement companies are counseled jointly by the Washington C.H. Jaycee chapter, the Huntington Bank and the Dayton Power and Light Co. Vernon Stanforth, president of the local Jaycee chapter, presented charters to Ramona Rodgers, president of GMW, and Kelley Mounts, president of Grashmi.

Hand surgery attempt fails

CLEVELAND (AP) — A surgical attempt to save a man's hand that was severed in an industrial accident, failed Monday.

Doctors at St. Joseph Hospital in Lorain amputated the left hand of Charles Gibson Jr. of Sandusky. It had been mangled Thursday in a machine at the American Crayon Co., Sandusky.

Cincy paper not for sale

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Post is not for sale, its editor said following the announcement of formation of an employee group to purchase the 96-year-old afternoon daily.

Former Cincinnati newsman James Ratliff, who led a movement of employees to buy the morning Cincinnati Enquirer in 1952, said Monday he will head another such group to purchase the Post.

"The first thing, however, is to stop the merger with The Cincinnati Enquirer," said Ratliff in a news conference in front of the Post.

The Post and Enquirer have notified the U.S. Department of Justice that they intend to combine mechanical and advertising operations Jan. 1, 1978. The filing was under the endangered newspapers law. The Post reported losses of $1.25 million this year.

William R. Burleigh, editor of the Post, promptly announced, "as we have stated previously, The Cincinnati Post is not for sale. We are actively pursuing a plan for a joint operating agreement which will, if approved by the federal government ... preserve this newspaper as an independent, competitive voice in the community."

Wes Williams, a printer-technician, formed the Committee To Buy the Post. He said 175 objections to the joint venture were filed Sept. 21 with the Justice Department.

Williams said between 600 and 800 persons would lose their jobs under the proposal. Williams said employees are being asked to pledge $1,000 each toward an eventual plan to purchase the Post from the E.W. Scripps Co.

LAY-AWAY NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

Panther senior has 118 points

Creamer of the scoring crop

By MARK REA
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Standing in the shadow of All-American Art Schlichter, Miami Trace running back David Creamer never gets much time in the spotlight. But, he's making some on his own by leading the SCOL in scoring for the fifth consecutive week.

Small by most standards (5-10, 167), the senior halfback makes up for it with his hard-nosed style of running. Creamer also ranks third in the league in rushing with 737 yards in nine games, an average of 81.9 yards per game.

He has scored 16 touchdowns this season, an average of nearly two each game. He has also scored 11 times on a two-point conversion. Creamer not only adds to the Miami Trace attack with his running, he is also an excellent pass receiver coming out of the backfield. He has latched onto several scoring passes this season.

Creamer ends his Panther career, along with fellow seniors Dennis Combs and Schlichter, this week at home.

The Panthers have already broken their team record of point scored set just last year. The 1976 mark of 523 points was eclipsed last week as Trace pushed their total to 560 points, an average of 62 a game. A typical game this week could also give them a record in total yardage.

Last season, they rolled up 5274 yards in 10 games and need 560 yards this week to reach that mark. This year, they have 4714 yards in nine games, an average of 524 each contest.

Wilmington moved into second place in team offense with a 50-6 win over Madison Plains. The Hurricane has now scored 176 points for the season. Hillsboro ranks second in total offense with 2355 yards, 2083 of it on the ground.

Madison Plains still ranks last in both departments. The Eagles have managed only 32 points this season and just 662 yards. Their rushing total is in danger of being minus for the season — it now stands at a negative 74. Circleville still ranks last in team passing with only 122 yards in nine games.

The Panthers also lead in team defense. They have allowed just 57 points all season and only 800 yards. To set another record, they have to limit their final opponents to just 110 yards total. The point record is safe for another year — the 1976 team allowed just 52.

Washington C.H. has made the turnaround of the season and ranks second in team defense despite a 4-5 record. But, there's probably a good reason for that — the Lions have yet to play Miami Trace.

The Panthers still rank first against the run in the SCOL having allowed just 384 yards while the Blue Lions are number one against the pass having given up 339 yards.

Madison Plains ranks last as the most generous defense in the league, having allowed 2588 yards on the ground, 797 yards in the air, 3385 yards total and 364 points. In the midst of an 18-game losing streak, the Eagles have been outgained 3385-662 and outscored 364-32.

Schlichter holds the most comfortable of leads in the passing department. The All-American has statistics that won't hurt to be mentioned when colleges begin their final pitch for his services.

Schlichter has thrown for a whopping 1559 yards this season in only eight games, while completing 94 of 162 attempts. He needs just 93 yards to tie last year's mark of 1652 yards in 10 contests.

The Panther quarterback has also tossed 20 touchdown passes and 22 extra point passes. That, coupled with 13 touchdowns and eight conversions rushing, makes Schlichter worth 258 points to the Panthers this season.

Ranking second is Greenfield's Alan Storer with 673 yards having completed 40 of 113 passes. A close third is Chris Emrich of Madison Plains (45-140, 659 yards) and fourth is Todd Terrell of Washington C.H. (50-118, 615 yards).

Schlichter's average of 58 percent completion ranks first in the SCOL while Wilmington's Gary Williams is second with an average of 43.9 percent.

Bruce Ford of Hillsboro still ranks first in the league in rushing despite getting only 76 yards last week against Teays Valley. He has gained 1079 yards in nine games for an average 119.9 each game.

Combs still has a shot at a 1000-yard season if he can gain 113 yards in his final game. He ranks second in the league with 887 yards and a nine-game average of 98.6. Larry Brickles fell to fourth in rushing this week after a three-yard performance at Circleville. His average is 73.2 a game.

Combs ranks second to Creamer is scoring with 108 points. He leads the league in touchdowns with 17, one more than Creamer. However, Creamer along with teammate Shane Riley lead the league in two-point conversions with 11 each.

The kicking game is coming into its own in the SCOL as nearly every team has a kicker. Williams leads the league with 17 conversions by kick while he and Hillsboro's Armin Neiderberger each have booted three field goals this season.

Bill Hanners of the Panthers moved into fourth spot in scoring with 76 while Brickles ranks fifth with 72 points. Riley ranks sixth, Ford is seventh, Williams is eighth, Scott Grooms of Miami Trace is ninth and Dave Achtermann of Wilmington and Dave Marshall of Circleville are 10th.

Leading scorers for their respective teams: Creamer, Miami Trace, 118; Brickles, Washington C.H., 72; Ford, Hillsboro, 60; Williams, Wilmington, 56; Marshall, Circleville, 36; John Woodruff, Teays Valley, 26; Jim Everhart, Greenfield, 24; and Benny Stroup, Madison Plains, 20.

Five games are on tap for the final week of the football season: Washington C.H. visits Miami Trace, Circleville is at Hillsboro, Teays Valley travels to Wilmington, Greenfield entertains Cincinnati Taft and Madison Plains hosts Springfield.

Bahr's kicking revives Bengals

'Little Foot' gives Cincinnati strong foothold for playoffs

CINCINNATI (AP) — They call Chris Bahr "Little Foot." But the wee man with a size seven shoe packs a big wallop.

Bahr's kicking heroics have given the revived Cincinnati Bengals a stonger shot in the National Football League playoff chase.

For the second straight week, the 5-foot-9 Bahr made the difference for the Bengals, who are showing signs of bouncing back from a stumbling start.

His longest field goal of the season, a 47-yarder, lifted the Bengals to a 10-7 victory Sunday over the Cleveland Browns. A week earlier, his 22-yard kick gave the Bengals a 13-10 overtime triumph against the Houston Oilers.

"My job is a lot like the pinch hitter in baseball, who has to come off the bench in the 12th inning and get a rally going," said Bahr, a former All-American soccer star from Penn State.

He tries to downplay his role in pro football, saying "I do nothing to get the ball within range. Without the other guys, I'd never get close."

But, he admits, an effective field goal kicker can "lift a team's morale — or destroy it."

His confidence-lifting kicks have the Bengals riding a wave of emotion as they prepare for Sunday's road game with the Minnesota Vikings.

"It's anybody's ballgame now," said quarterback Ken Anderson, jubilant as the Bengals closed the gap in the wideopen American Football Conference Central Division race.

The Bengals are tied for second place at 4-4 with Pittsburgh and Houston, one game behind 5-3 Cleveland.

Bahr, a second round draft in 1976, has shaken off a wobbly rookie year to live up to his lofty credentials. The Oakland Raiders nearly made him a first round choice — an unprecedented occurrence in the NFL.

"I was happy to get through last season. Most of it was mental. I never had a good game to get me over the hump," said Bahr, who converted 14 of 27 field goal attempts, half of the tries coming from beyond 40 yards.

That adds up to an accuracy average of just over 50 percent, and Bahr wasn't happy with it.

"I should make 75 percent of my kicks," said the Feasterville, Pa., native.

Soccer helped him develop his kicking skills, but being an excellent soccer player doesn't necessarily guarantee success in the NFL, he says.

"Leg strength is not as important as people think. Otherwise the league would be full of Lou Grozas. Leg speed gives you the distance."

"I was always a shooter. I could put the ball where I wanted it," said Bahr, who earned rookie of the year honors in the North American Soccer League.

Moeller hangs onto big lead

MT strengthens hold on third

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Moeller, Elyria Catholic and Sullivan Black River cling to the division leads with one week remaining in The Associated Press' Ohio high school football poll.

Moeller appears to be in the most comfortable position, with a 312-262 lead over runnerup Canton McKinley in Class AAA.

The battle for the other regular season crowns is close. Elyria Catholic owns a 247-237 edge over No. 2 Canton Central Catholic in Class AA. Black River is just two points ahead of second-place Dalton in Class A, 245-243.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters kept the same five contenders in their identical spots as a week ago in the stablest voting of the season.

In Class AAA, Washington Court House Miami Trace again was third.

Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school football teams this week in The Associated Press poll (10 points for first to 1 point for 10th):

- CLASS AAA
1. Cincinnati Moeller, 9-0-0, 312 points.
 2. Canton McKinley, 9-0-0, 262.

How Ware Const. Co. keeps your building from costing too much and taking too long:

Putting up a new building too often means paying more than you expected and taking longer than you thought.

The most frequent reason? No one person is clearly in control. That can cause a basic communication breakdown among all parties involved, resulting in confusion, cost overruns and missed deadlines.

But we offer you a team of construction professionals capable of controlling your entire project ... concept to completion.

We can handle all the details—planning, rights-of-way, permits, construction, even landscaping. We'll make sure you get your building on-time and on-budget. And we'll do it using construction methods and building systems that can cut up to 40% off some conventional building timetables.

So if your next building has time and budget limitations, call us. We'll give you both the building and the control you need.

TV Viewing

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lee Marvin, the hard-charging, Oscar-winning actor, appears on TV about as often as the sun rises in the West. But he'll be appearing in a two-hour NBC special next Nov. 17.

Not as a villain or semigood guy, though. He's guest-hosting "Superstunt," in which Hollywood's stuntmen and women demonstrate how they take the lumps while the actors take the bows.

He says he also is doing a stunt or two, but has left the truly hard stuff — such as a midair leap from one plane to another — to the professionals he's known in his 26-year career in films here.

"They're all friends of mine and we've had a good relationship over the years," he said. "So when they asked me to represent them, I said, 'Hell, yes, be glad to.'"

Marvin, 53, spoke by phone from his home in Tucson, Ariz. At the time he was getting set for a trip to Australia for purposes of catching marlin before starting work on his next movie, "Big Red One."

The film is about the famed 1st Infantry Division in Europe during World War II. Marvin was in that war, as a Marine, and was wounded in combat against the Japanese on the Pacific island of Saipan.

Asked where he was hit, he promptly replied: "I was a good Marine. Now where does a good Marine get hit?"

A chance guess — in what the Navy calls the aft section — proved correct. "That's right," he said. "All my pals laughed, said, 'Oh, boy, 'Captain Marvel's got it.' He laughed, too, but the truth is, he spent 15 months recovering from the wound."

During that grim period, the tall, rugged New York native met an off-Broadway theater owner who cast him in a play, "Roadside." Marvin decided to study acting formally and has been in the dodge ever since.

A veteran of over 30 movies, the first being "You're in the Navy Now" in 1951, he often specializes in playing tough, hard-boiled gents who'll remove a guy's head before the morning's first boilermaker.

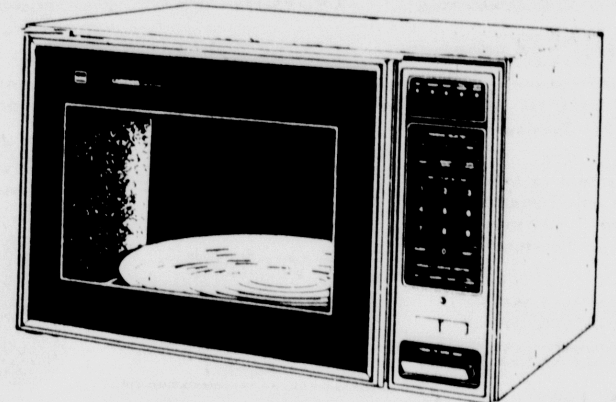

He did that even as a cop in "M-Squad," his first and, he hopes, last weekly TV series. He says he took the job simply because it came at a time the film industry was in a slump, ditto the villain market.

Safari Museum in Kansas Honors Explorers Osa, Martin Johnson

CHANUTE, Kan. (AP) — The rolling hills of southeast Kansas are 8,000 miles and another world removed from East Africa, but a bit of the Dark Continent's heritage is preserved in a two-story, converted railroad

Its artifacts draw 7,000 to 8,- unimposing structure nestled among downtown businesses and the Santa Fe Railroad freight warehouse.

"People are very surprised to

Birth Control Tests Conducted for Dogs

By JAMES W. HATTON
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS (AP) — A form of "The Pill" for your pet will soon be available from your neighborhood veterinarian.

Three types of animal contraceptives are currently being tested at veterinary colleges at Ohio State University, Colorado State University and the University of Guelph, Ontario, Canada, under grants provided by the Ohio Veterinary Medical Association.

All three of the contraceptives are for use on females, and at this point all are intended for dogs, said Dr. Phillip W. Murdick, chairman of the OSU Veterinary Clinical Sciences Department.

"Some may eventually be applied to other pets, but the problem does not really exist as much for other pets," Murdick said. "We do not have packs of cats running loose over the countryside; cats are not taken out on country roads and dumped. It will be another year or two for cats."

One type of contraceptive already in clinical use, which may be available in a year or less, is a food additive which prevents conception in much the same way as does the pill for humans.

The final product may be a specially treated pet food, or a chemical additive which can be sprinkled over the pet's regular food.

Another contraceptive, also in clinical testing, is a treated wafer that is implanted under the animal's skin. A drug is slowly released from the wafer into the animal's system over a long period of time, perhaps up to seven years.

A third kind is a drug injection. This, a form of hormone vaccine, is furthest from common use.

Each of the contraceptives with its advantages and disadvantages "may have its place in the whole scheme of controlling over-population in pets," Murdick said.

"The wafer and vaccination have longer effects and may be economically more feasible. But they have the disadvantage that they are not easily reversed like the pet food additive, where you just take the pet off it and wait for a while. With the wafer you either have to wait for it to wear off, or go in surgically and remove it.

"Sterilization (by vaccination) is nonreversible. The vaccination will still have the side effects of having the female in heat and the attraction to male dogs.

"The pet food thing we know will prevent the animal from coming in heat, but it is expensive over the long haul because you have to keep buying special pet food. And it will be less effective because people might forget to administer it or be late with it.

"In many respects, surgical sterilization is still best because it is permanent," Murdick said.

At this point there is nothing in the test tube for males, but "a lot of people across the country are working on contraceptives for male humans. Theoretically, anything they come up with should be applicable to male animals," Murdick said.

Theorist Challenges Classic Concept of Greek Democracy

By PAUL ANASTASSIADES
ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A French Marxist philosopher has touched off a controversy by attacking the classic conception of ancient Greece as the cradle of democracy.

Roger Garaudy, who contends the historical accounts of ancient Greece's triumphs were a "European imperialist invention," first made his comments while in Greece to attend a socialist symposium. His views were then serialized in an Athens newspaper and critically taken up in a new interview by another paper.

"The democracy of Pericles, which was based on the raw exploitation of 400,000 slaves, to me does not differ greatly from today's South Africa," Garaudy said in the interview with Apogevmatini.

The newspaper angrily concluded: "So the history of ancient Greece is being turned into a myth. We are lucky they still allow us Sophocles and Euripides. Our progressive friends ... seem to prefer Greece without any history. Just sunshine, sea, wine and bouzouki music."

Garaudy described Herodotus, the ancient Greek historian, as a bought-off writer.

"Herodotus is someone whose testimony I don't pay too much attention to. He loved money and wrote much when paid well," Garaudy said.

Garaudy, a former member of the French Communist party, did accept, however, that apart from the alleged slaves there was genuine democracy among the rest of the population in the 5th-century B.C. "Golden Age of Pericles."

Greek historians, however, refuse to describe as slaves those who, for example, pulled the enormous marble pillars that built the Acropolis monuments and which stand today as a symbol of the roots of Western civilization. They are described as workers who ate and lived with their superiors.

Greek President Constantine Tsatsos, considered one of the country's most prominent men of letters, in a recent article indirectly replying to Garaudy, attacked such criticism of ancient Greece. He described Marxism-Leninism as "the latest stage of romanticism" and appealed for an international "return to the spirit of Acropolis." He said that era witnessed the most successful balance of all political and cultural trends, peaceably reflected in its art.

Tsatsos has written the prologue to French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing's book on democracy.

Garaudy also doubted historic accounts of the 490 B.C. Battle of Marathon and 480 B.C. naval battle of Salamis. In both cases history has it that the far-out-numbered Greeks managed to heavily defeat the invading Persians.

Such events have been held sacred in Western teaching as symbolic of the spirit of democracy and civilization against force and barbarism. Garaudy said the example had been inversely taken to justify Western European imperialism and "protective intervention" in other areas.

Garaudy added that only a minority of ancient Greeks could claim the virtues credited to the era.

At the Battle of Marathon, 30,000 Persians were routed by 10,000 Greeks when their expected support from the sympathizers of a local Greek dictator did not materialize.

Garaudy finally found it acceptable to describe the ancient king and military campaigner Alexander the Great (356-323 B.C.) only as "Mr. Alexander" and said the Chinese civilization of that same time was far worthier of glorification.

Back a few years ago Mike Boylan went to Japan — some sort of Rotary Club project, I think. When he returned with a beautiful slide show some of his slides were on a Japanese film he picked up over there, FUJICROME.

In this year's Fayette County Fair photo exhibit there were some beautiful slides on FUJICROME. About a year ago Fuji came out with FUJICOLOR 400, a color print film with an ASA of 400. The quality was great and it filled a need for a faster print film. Of course Kodak soon came out with their 400 ASA print film which has proven to be quite popular. We, at the camera shop have just started stocking this beautiful Japanese film and I have the first roll of the FUJICROME in my Pentax now and a roll of FUJICOLOR in my Kodak Pocket Instamatic. The FUJICROME has an ASA of 100, and may be pushed to ASA 200 or ASA 400 for a buck extra. If you'd like to come in, we'll brief you on the entire Fuji Film story.

Oh yes, we wanted to remind you of the speech by William McIlhenny II at the Eastside gym next Monday night, that's the 14th. Bill is a well known author and historian and he's done much research on the Lincoln assassination plot. His topic will be THE GREAT CONSPIRACY. Tickets are two bucks and you can get them at our shop and other places around town, and at the door next Monday night.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Leghold trap issue eyed at Kiwanis Club meeting

Leghold traps was the topic at the weekly Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club meeting Monday night.

Ralph (Skip) Mitchell, the Fayette County game protector, attended the meeting and voiced opposition to Issue 2, which would ban the use of leghold traps in Ohio.

Mitchell said that Issue 2 specifically states that no trapping device is to be used that would cause "continued, prolonged suffering" and holds a wild animal against its will.

He also claimed that Issue 2 would permit any person to bring action against an alleged violator of the leghold trap ban and would allow them to recover attorney fees and court costs, even if the accused is found innocent.

Mitchell raised the question, "Who will pay the fees and court costs?"

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources also opposes Issue 2 on the grounds that it would affect one of the tools necessary in wildlife control, according to Mitchell.

He drew a comparison between the definition of a conservationist and a preservationist during the meeting.

A conservationist believes in the wise use of natural resources while a preservationist believes in no use of natural resources, Mitchell said.

He emphasized that wildlife is a renewable resource and that only the surplus is harvested. And, the resource is there, year after year, Mitchell stated.

Mitchell added that trappers are presently controlled by law. The traps must bear the trappers name and address, the trap must be checked at least once in every 24 hours, the trapper must have written permission of the landowner, and the trapper must use traps of a particular size as specified by law.

Three other state issues which appear on Tuesday's ballots were discussed at the Kiwanis meeting Monday. George Gibbs reviewed the pros and cons of issues one, three and four.

Also during Monday's meeting, Ron Lott received a five-year perfect attendance pin.

McQueen, wife ponder divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steve McQueen and Ali MacGraw have separated and one of them probably will file for divorce, their lawyer says.

Attorney Ken Ziffrin said Monday the parting of the couple, married four years ago in a Cheyenne, Wyo., city park under a cottonwood tree, was amicable, and they are remaining "on very friendly terms."

McQueen, 47, has starred in "The Great Escape," "Bullitt," "The Thomas Crown Affair" and others.

Lake project funds okayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state will begin work within days on cleaning up a 385-acre site along Lake Erie projected as a Cleveland Lakelakefront Park.

The State Controlling Board released $2 million for the project Monday after the Department of Natural Resources signed a lease agreement with the City of Cleveland for the recreation area.

"We have a tremendous trash clean up program," natural resources spokesman Richard Midden told the board. "We hope we might move in there and beat the weather."

The funding will enable the state agency to pay operational costs of a string of parks along the shoreline until July 1, 1979. It will also allow for clean up and renovation in advance of capital improvements to convert the area to a state park.

The state's capital improvements budget carried a $5 million appropriation for the facelifting.

"Now it's our job to get it up to snuff," Midden said. "We're going to have a policing problem as well as a trash problem."

In other action, the control board: — Released $518,745 for planning of a horse and cattle complex at the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Youth charged in theft case

A 12-year-old Washington C.H. girl was charged Monday with petty theft in connection with an incident at Washington Middle School, 318 N. North St.

A Washington C.H. Police Department spokesman said a student at the school reported a theft of an undisclosed amount of money around 3:10 Monday afternoon. An investigation of the incident lead to the arrest of the local youth.

She has been released to the custody of her parents pending a hearing in Fayette County Juvenile Court.

Police officers are investigating a felony theft reported Monday.

According to a department spokesman, Melody McConnell, 221 Heritage, told police officers she had cashed a check Oct. 13 for over $150 and gave the money to a male acquaintance. The man had allegedly told Ms. McConnell he would purchase travelers checks with the cash, but never returned.

Miami Trace bell tower damaged by spray paint

Paint-spraying vandals struck the bell tower at Miami Trace High School sometime Sunday causing extensive damage to the brick structure.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson said Fred Zechman, head football coach at Miami Trace, reported Monday morning someone painted the tower during the night.

Upon investigation, Sheriff Thompson said he found the vandals, using blue paint, sprayed the number "78" and the words "Lions has returned" on the front of the building. Also on the front were painted the words "Jesus Saves" and "God."

Sheriff Thompson reported on each side of the tower, which was built by a donation from the 1977 Miami Trace graduating class, the number "78" was painted. The bell and the tower roof had also been sprayed.

Damages are expected to be extensive, Sheriff Thompson said, because the paint soaked into the bricks. He added that a local paint dealer attempted to remove the paint, but without success.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the incident.

Prayer breakfast draws 31 persons

Thirty-one teens attended the weekly teen prayer breakfast at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning.

Bro. Marvin Ringer delivered a short devotional, and Frank Creamer, a teacher at Miami Trace High School, led group singing with LaVonne Creamer at the piano. Ron Clay delivered the invocation.

A breakfast of cereal, oatmeal, fruit juice, pumpkin bread, milk and bananas was served by Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mrs. Charles Starkey, Mrs. Bob Bolender and Mrs. Frank Creamer.

Jane Henry, a senior at Washington Senior High School, delivered the student devotions.

The next teen prayer breakfast will be held Tuesday, Nov. 15 at 7 a.m. All teens, grades 9-12, are welcome as are all teachers.
